

Contact4Me

If you or a loved one were involved in an accident, could you be sure that emergency services could contact next of kin without delay? Could you also be sure that any critical medical alerts could be made known to the emergency services immediately? Almost certainly not — because few of us carry easily-found contact numbers and details of pertinent medical conditions. 'Contact4Me' solves the problem.

'Contact4Me' card membership allows anyone to store up to ten emergency numbers and medical alerts on a central database. The card gives emergency services instant access to this vital contact information — all for as little as 23p a week.

Buy peace-of-mind 'Contact4Me' membership for yourself, older people you care for, or younger family members away from home or on worldwide travels.
